Oxford University Press

Oxford University Press is the world's largest university press, with the widest global presence. As a department of the University of Oxford, everything we do is driven by research from leading experts, and insights from classrooms and partners across the globe. For over 500 years, we've led the way beyond traditional publishing to find innovative solutions that support the needs of institutions, teachers, and students in a changing world.

In Italy, we have been present for over 40 years with a network of Educational Consultants and, more recently, a Digital Consultant. At OUP Italy, we pride ourselves on providing teachers with complete solutions for English Language Teaching and Assessment, covering every step of the learning journey.

We support teachers in placing students at the right level, guiding their progress through engaging lessons and high-quality materials, reinforcing their learning with regular, meaningful practice, and preparing them to certify their proficiency with trusted assessment. In addition, we provide personal development courses and expert advice on the latest trends in ELT through local and national events.

From the first step into the classroom to final certification, our approach creates confident learners, supported teachers, and thriving institutions.
